

Book Week in Year 3/4

We began the week with a treasure hunt around the school grounds! As we completed the final clue, we excitedly un-wrapped our class present to discover our book theme for the week!

We found out all about Amelia Earhart's love of adventure and wrote her diary after she succeeded in being the first female to fly solo across the Pacific and the Atlantic Ocean.

We learnt about Mary Seacole's 'British Hotel' and how she nursed injured soldiers back to health! We enjoyed working together to write persuasive adverts to sell her delicious, heart-warming soup!

We looked at Coco Chanel and Frida Kahlo's achievements and used their inspirational philosophies to create self-portraits and poems to represent how we are all individually great!

We discovered who Emmeline Pankhurst was and how she changed women's lives 100 years ago. We experienced what it would be like to go to an unfair school where some classes were given extra play every day. We loved creating protest banners to try to get the rules to become fair again!

We really enjoyed our trip to Macclesfield library. The librarians issued us all with a library card and explained how the library works. All the children borrowed a book and are looking forward to their next visit when they will be able to borrow lots more books and use the other library facilities.

Finally, we enjoyed dressing up as our favourite book characters and strutting down the cat walk! Our teachers (dressed as suffragettes) even protested for women's right to vote!

We have loved every minute of finding out about 'Fantastically Great Women who changed the World'.
